

DIPARTIMENTO DI PSICOLOGIA

International seminar

Studying basic functions to understand atypical development

March 22, 2018

14:00-17:30

Aula Anfiteatro Pombeni
Piazza A. Moro 90, Cesena

Program

14:00-14:15 Introduction. Alessandra Sansavini, PhD, Professor of Developmental Psychology and Education, Department of Psychology, University of Bologna.

14:15-15:15 “Research on visual functions in clinical population”
Kerstin Hellgren, MD PhD, Senior Consultant in Pediatric Ophthalmology, Karolinska Institutet, Stockholm, Sweden.

15:15- 15:30 Question time. Mariagrazia Benassi, PhD, Professor of Psychometrics, Department of Psychology, University of Bologna.

15:30-16:00 Break

16:00- 17:00 “From intuitions about quantities to complex math: Why some people struggle with math and others don’t”. Melissa Libertus, PhD, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychology, and Research Scientist, Learning Research & Development Center, University of Pittsburgh, US.

Ore 17:00-17:15 Question time. Annalisa Guarini, PhD, Professor of Developmental Psychology and Education, Department of Psychology, University of Bologna.

Ore 17:15- 17:30 Conclusions. Alessandra Sansavini.

The seminar is organized by Professors Alessandra Sansavini, Mariagrazia Benassi, and Annalisa Guarini within the innovative project of international cooperation agreement between the Department of Psychology of the University of Bologna and the Department of Psychology of the University of Pittsburgh. The seminar is organized within the course of Cognitive development and developmental disabilities and is open to undergraduate, graduate and PhD students, post-doc fellows and researchers of the School of Psychology and Education of the University of Bologna.